TOBACCO FACTORIES BURNED AT PRINCETON

DYNAMITE USED BY BAND OF DESPER-ATE MEN WITH GUNS

Policemen Disarmed; Fireman Locked Up By the Mob

One hundred or more armed men entered Princeton last Saturday morning and a armed every person found on the streets, locked up the fire department, muzzled the telephone force, drove guards and officers away and proceeded to burn two big tobacco warehouses. The burning of the warehouses also burned two or three resi-

IThe warehouses were owned by J. A. Stegar and J. G. Orr. The John Orr building and fixtures are estimated at over $25,000 and partially insured. About 250,000 pounds of tobacco was in the building covered by insurance. The Stegar factory including fixtures was valued at $15,000 with $9000 insurance. About 150,000 pounds of tobac- cattle grazing which look to be fifteen ing Co., property of Mancos, Colo. co was in the stemmery covered by insurance. Mr. Orr represented The Imperial Tobacco Co., and Mr. Stegar represented Gallaher Limited Co. The Orr factory was built in 1884 and the Stegar factory was built in 1885.

The night riders responsible for this terrible calamity to Princeton are as The Nine Acre Mining Company yet unknown. They were masked. They rode to the fair grounds and hitched their horses, leaving about twenty-five men to guard them. They then marched to the work they had laid out for execution. It was all planned like clock work. They divided into groups, each group having a partic- vein and known as the Nine Acre, but lar duty to perform. They took charge of the telephone, telegraph and water works. All citizens who were out were put under guard.

The speaker, a member of the Aero club, resumed:

"On a September Sunday, standing by the Arc de Triomphe, I counted nine balloons afloat above my head. They were beautiful in color-scarlet, blue, gold, green, white-and nobody watched them, for they were an ordinary spectacle, like a horse or a ped-

"The balloons, keeping together, floated past the Eiffel Tower. Then a gust of wind seized them, and they rushed with incredible rapidity to wards Montmartre. You could see them dropping sand. It looked like a rope made of cloud, a rope that quickly melted against the blue sky.

THE DEMAND OF LABOR.

Request That Seemed at First to Savor of Extortion.

It was formerly the custom of a paper mill in Massachusetts to pay the workers semi-monthly; and, the operatives having found the practice somewhat inconvenient from their standpoint, it was decided to send a delegate to the head of the firm to state their grievance. An Irishman, rather well known for his sagacity and persuasive powers, was selected for the task. He duly waited on the "boss," who said: "Well, Michael, what can I do for you?"

"If ye plase, sor," said Mike, "I've been sint as a diligate by the workers to ask a favor of ye regardin' the paymint of our wages."

"What do they want?" "Sor, it is the desire of meailf an' of ivery other man in the establishmint that we resayve our semi-monthly pay every week."-Lippincott's.

So Unreasonable.

Two pretty girls about 16 years each were confiding to each other their views upon life in general, and upon affairs of the heart in particular. The blonde had evidently been recently receiving some maternal advice, for she remarked, with a slight

"I think people are just too uneasonable.

"Of course they are," the other readily agreed. "What are you talking about?" 'Why, kissing."

Who is unreasonable about kiss-

Why-er-everybody. They only begin to think it's wrong for a girl to let herself be kissed when she begins to get old enough for it to be interesting."

Love and Life. Love is hurt with jar and fret."

These words, written by the English poet years ago, sum up the truth that love, even more than friendship, can be marred and finally lost from carelessness or crueity.

For friendship is mor steady, it is a matter at once of more reserve and stability; when one loves, one gives all, and so suffers utter shipwreck if things go wrong.

Love is hurt with jars and fret, and when two people come into possession of this most precious heritage they should resolve that let come what may, ill temper, harsh words and disagreements should not occur between

"Heat Veil" for Firemen.

One of the gravest perils which fire fighters are constantly facing is the fierce heat. After successful trials, a newly invented "heat veil" has been introduced into practice at Cologne, Germany, where 200 men have been supplied with the appliance. The veil is made after the principle of a safety lamp, with double windows. It is composed of fibers of cane, which possess the peculiar property of retaining water for a considerable length of time. The veil is made damp before being fastened to the fireman's ordinary brass helmet.

to lead the mirth. In too many homes a wan smile, accompanied, perhaps, see much to laugh at.

Nothing helps a busy housewife through her press of cares like the ability to laugh long and heartily. A humorous rhyme, a conundrum, or a smart repartee cheers up a dull day wonderfully, especially when it comes from "mother," for it is she from whom the rest of the family are apt to take their cue.

The appetite for fun may be coaxed to grow with what it feeds on, until the housewife may transform her home into an abode of mirth and sunshine, the envy of dull and grumbling households.-Exchange.

Braved Danger from Sharks.

in Pacific waters commander Gambler met the great Bishop Selwyn of New Zealand. His missionary yacht, the Southern Cross, touched a coral feef when entering the harbor of Port of France, New Caledonia. It became necessary to examine her bottom, but the sharks were so numerous and so daring that nobody would venture into the water. "So the bishop, who held that if a man thowed a bold front to a shark he would sheer off, went overboard himself with a long, sharp knife in his mouth for defense, and, diving under his vessel, ascertained the damage. He then came on board our ship, and we arranged to careen the yacht sufaciently to enable him to nail on some copper sheets, which he did himself, again spending a long time in the water. For some curious reason not a single sharkk hove in sight all the time."

Chinese Gambler's Penance. A Chinese cook named Chin Kam had been engaged by a wealthy Chilese in Ho In street in Canton. All money he earned has been lost gambling. On one occasion his aster paid him some money for the provisions he supplied. The cook lost, CREEKS AND TEN LOST TRIBES.

Indians' Story of Their Wandering Away From Palestine

"The Indians are the most superstitious people on earth," said a man a few days ago who had taught for years in a Creek Indian School, "They have myths and legends by the score. Some of them are as beautiful and picturesque as the legends of the old Greeks and Romans.

"I boarded for five years with a Creek Indian who had been educated at Carlisle. He knew the Indian legend that they are one of the lost ten tribes of Israel. This Indian was the son of a medicine man who was once great and powerful in the tribe. Ail his knowledge of Indian lore came from his father, the medicine man.

"This medicine man said that the Creeks were one of the lost ten tribes of Israel. The legend ran that they were once associated with the other tribes and that they had wandered and became separated. They wandered for years far to the north until they came to a sea. There they built boats and embarked. They steered their course by the wand of a medicine man. Each morning he went to his teepee and set up his divining rod and told them which direction to pursue. They followed this rod from a warm country to a cold sea on which they set sail. The sea was crossed and then they traveled toward the south again. "The Creeks have a covenant of their tribe which is kept with the chiefs. No one but the elect is ever permitted to see this guarantee of the genuineness of the Creek faith and origin." - Chickasha correspondence Kansas City Star.

All Were Worried.

The mistakes made by telegraph operators are often very amusing and sometimes rather startling.

A Washington girl, 16 years old, went west recently, and it was her first trip unaccompanied by some member of the family.

After three days had elapsed and she had received no answer to her telegram, announcing her safe arrival, she decided to send another wire. This is the telegram as received by her fond parents:

"Why don't you write? Am mar-

Her mother promptly fainted and her father rushed out, first after a physician, and secondly to wire the chief of police of a western city to look after a young girl, lost, strayed, stolen or married.

After many explanations by wire, it was found that a mistake had occurred in the telegraph office, and that the message should have read: 'Why don's you write? Am wor-

Conversational Niceties.

The requirements of polite conversation occasionally puzzle the student of the English language, but one who has a governess will soon acquire them

Thus a young French woman who was learning English while on tour with an Anglican attendant, exclaimed, "O my, I am all of a sweat!"

'Miss Morceau," exclaimed her attendant, "never use that word again! Horses sweat, men perspire, ladies merely glow."-Youth's Companion.

A Quadruped Bird.

A South American traveler has captured a rare bird, whose interest to science is that it is a quadruped. It is known to the natives as the cigana, or gypsy bird. For many days Miss Shonts said she would prove after hatching, before it is able to

INVENTORS HAD LAST LAUGH

Steel Making by Bessemer Process Was Ridiculed at First.

The so-called Bessemer process of making steel by injecting air blasts into molten iron vas discovered first by an American named Kelly, and known as his air boiling process.

After the iron workers had seen it done, they still would not believe "Some crank'll be burning ice, next thing," they said. Some of his customers, when they heard about it, wrote Kelly that they wanted their fron made either in the regular way, and not by any new-fangled method, or not at all.

When the first blast was so strong that it melted the iron, the spectators with laughter at what they called "Kelly's fireworks," and laughed for ten years at his "folly."

When Bessemer introduced his process to the British iron makers. they, too, roared with laughter at the "crazy Frenchman," and would not allow the "silly idea" to be mentioned in their records.

The steel rail proposition excited only derision. "Bosh! Stuff! Hum-bug! Nonsense!" said the railroad directors when it was proposed to them. But after one road had tried it, the steel mills could not keep up with the orders sent in.-The Sunday Magazine.

WAY TO TELL A DIAMOND.

Useful Hint for Lovers of These Beau tiful Stones.

The jeweler made a small dot, like a period, on a piece of white paper with a lead pencil. Then he held a large diamond over the dot.

'Look through this," he said. Through the diamond the dot looked precisely the same as before.

"Now look through this," he said, taking up another stone.

Through the second stone the dot was transformed to three dots.

"There," the jeweler said, "is easy way for the average man to tell a real diamond from an imitation. dot on a piece of paper, looked at through a real diamond, is the same as before; but, looked at through a fake, it shows double or triple, or it appears blurred, scattered."

Beggar's Ready Explanation. Eugene Higgins at a dinner on his yacht Varuna described a winter he had spent at Nice.

"But the Nice beggars!" he said. laughing. "The splendid, sun-drenched Promenade des Anglais, with its ivory white villas on one side and the blue Mediterranean on the other, is always haunted with these beggars. One of them accosted me one morning as I came out of the Cercle Mediterance, the fashionable French club.

Monsieur,' he said, 'one little sou, for the love of heaven. My poor wife starving.

'Why, look here,' said I, 'only last week I gave you some money to bury your wife and now you tell me she is starving. How can that be?" "'But, monsieur,' said the beggar,

'I have a new wife now.' "

Dissuading a Tempter.

A pompous Chicago merchant, arrogantly carrying the signs of his prosperity about him, accosted an acquaintance of his who conducts a successful rescue mission, and said: "James, I'd like to attend one of your meetings."

"Certainly," rejoined the minister, but leave your watch and diamonds with the hotel clerk."

Unfortunate Mistake.

Collin Butler was an old colored ditch digger on the farm of a wellknown land owner in Virginia. One morning, after having been at work only a few hours, Collins was seen approaching the farmhouse with un usual rapidity, and with a peculiar limp to his usually dragging gait.

With a moan and a sob he -x claimed: "Lor', massa! I fought I see de biggest turkle haid I ever did see befo' in my life, wiggling fro' de mud, an' I took de spade an' whacked dat haid, an' I done cut off mah big

There is an old man in Crittenden county who boasts of his eyesight on every occasion. He is way up in years and says that now he has his second sight. He does not wear glasses. Not so very long ago he was in a certain place where the mountains loomed up about forty miles away in a blue hazy mist. Speaking to his fellow traveler he said, "See those mountains over there? It takes good eyesight to see them. I can see a cow on the side of that mountain. Can you see her?" His fellow traveler replied, "No I can't see her, but I can hear her bawl."

Quint Conyer got sick. He was ill for a month or better and during that time lost fifteen pounds in weight. Finally he went to a doctor and get some medicine and fully recovered in three or four days. He also recovered the weight in three or four days and now declares that it is very discouraging to be healthy.

AMONG OUR CHURCHES

Rev. J. H. Butler preached at the Baptist church last Sunday morning and evening.

The morning text is found in Psalms 116-12, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me." The subject, "The benefits of the Lord and the returns that should be made for Them" and was divided into two principal thoughts. First, The character of the benefits; answer to prayer, forgiveness of sin, salvation of soul, adoption, the gift of the spirit, open bible, preached gospel and a home in Heaven. Second, The returns; We should gratefully receive benefits, faithfully use and improve them, and render best love and servives.

In the evening the text was from Luke 23-11, Herod with his men of war set him at nought." The subject was; "Christ set at nought," and divided into four thoughts; first, the person set at nought, Christ; second, persons by whom he was set at nought; third, reasons why Jesus was set at nought, ignorance, wickedness, and unbelief: fourth, consequences that followed.

British Admiralty Has Sums on Hand for Destroying Slave Ships.

The days when prize money was looked upon in the navy as an ordinary source of income are recalled by a notification from the British admiralty of money waiting to be claimed -the proceeds of bounties for the destruction of pirates and of the sale of slave ships.

There is a sum of $25,000 from the sale of slaving vessels captured in the 60s awaiting claimants, also a goodly amount of naval prize money and bounty for the destruction of pirates which nobody applies for.

Some of those to whom money is due are, no doubt, still alive, but if they are dead they probably left descendants who if the names were advertised would be forthcoming to substantiate their claims.

As it is, there is little demand for the money in hand. During 12 months dealt with in the statement issued from Whitehall under $40 have been paid out .- Court Journal.

DAYS OF MALE DANDIES.

Feminine Display Outdone by Duke of Buckingham.

Until the last century, in variety and magnificence, the human male followed the rule of the lower animals that the male shall predominate in brilliance. No woman has ever ruled through pure modishness; there has never been a feminine counter part of Beau Brummel. All varieties of exquisite are male, whether dandy macaroni or beau-and not because they are exceptions to a general rule of sobriety, but because of a superior originality and more forcible and dis tinguished expression.

In the point of extravagance there never has been (until the last century) any difference between male and female costume. The duke of Buckingham took 27 suits of clothes to Paris in 1625, one of white uncut velvet set all over with diamonds, worth £14,000. He also wore a diamonded feather and diamond buttons and earrings. A curious fashion for men prevailed in 1612 of ornamenting the ear with strings of black velvet ribbon, also of placing a rose behind

Old Man Made a Guess. Prof. Brander Matthews, along with his belief in spelling reform, believes in short words and in simple constructions. The simplicity of his prose style as it is manifested in his books is only equaled by its grace. Apropos of simplicity, Prof. Matthews said the other day: "In my youth I once passed the summer in Horse Shoeing a Specialty the country. One of my friends, an elderly farm hand, visited New York during my country visit and on his return I said to him, employing a word needlessly complex and long: Well, Jabez, how did you like the metropolis?

'Wot say?' asked the old man. "'How did you like the metropolis?" I repeated. "'Twa'n't open,' said he."

Ignorance at a Premium.

Education, according to commander Gambier, was not valued in the British navy in the '50s. The future commander began his life at sea aboard the Retribution with an education which included Greek, an acquirement of which "our second master, who had joined the navy straight out of a merchant ship," made light. 'We don't want none of this here kind of hogwash at sea,' said my friend. I also quickly discovered that to know anything about music -beyond being able to sing a comic song or play a hornpipe on a tin whistle-was likewise an offense; while the crowning infamy was to be able to talk French or any foreign tongue."

Safety in Coupling. A new and useful invention is now being tested on the railroads and tramways of Belgium, which promises to do away with the most prolific cause of accidents during shunting. The apparatus is in two parts, the first an automatic coupling arrangement, and the other an automatic brake whereby if a coupling snaps the detached vehicles are at once brought to a standstill.

On a trial trip in which nearly all the chief railway officials participated, all sorts of tests were made and the arrangement was declared to be a complete success.

Effect of Jealousy. "It's such a good joke on the Pitts-burgs," says the first lady.

"What is? That they are on the verge of separation?" asks her friend. "Indirectly, yes. You know each of them has engaged a private detective to watch the other, and day before yesterday their two detectives put in a whole afternoon following them in an auto while they were riding in another one. It costs them $40 apiece to learn that they had taken an auto ride together."-Judge.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY.

Lady Didn't Mean to Lose "Splendid Girl" for a Triviality.

At a meeting of a woman's club in an eastern city, the members discussed the problem of securing and retaining good housemaids. After the session one of them told another member that she had "a splendid girl," throat and nostrils, and quickly purand then (in strict confidence, of ifies a foul or feverish breath. Call course), narrated the following in and investigate. Haynes & Taylor.

She had attended a meeting of the club the previous week, and upon returning home earlier than expected, entered the house by means of a latchkey. Going upstairs quietly she was surprised, on suddenly opening a door, at seeing her husband in the act of kissing the "splendid girl." Naturally there was surprise all around, but without saying a word the clubwoman returned to the lower part of the house. In a short time down came the maid arrayed for departure.

"What is the matter, Annie?" asked the mistress of the house. "Why are you going at this time?"

"Well," replied the maid, "after what you have just seen I don't think you want me to stay here any longer.' "Don't let that worry you, Annie, Go upstairs and take off your things.

If two of us cannot satisfy his propensity for kissing I shall get another servant to assist us."

And that is one woman's way of keeping a "splendid girl" as her maid.

The larger portion of it veyed to her all she wanted to know now comes from southwestern Misand that as a fact there was no writsouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Indian territory, although there is some scattering growth still picked up in Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia. The most considerable stand of the wood remaining east of the Mississippi river is on the upper waters of the Guyandotte river in West Virginia, says a writer in The Southwest. The home demand for black walnut lumber is only for comparatively small quantities. Its use is largely confined to gun stocks, nevelties, electrical work, etc. The chief demand for walant comes from Germany and Hamburg is the commercial center of the Barnes Explained Why.

Many people in this section remem ber Augustus Barnes, who for years drove the stage between Tilton and Franklin, before the railroad was built Dr. Tucker, president of Dartmouth college, tells of riding across from Tilton one day. Just out of Tilton, on the sandy bank of Winnipiseogee river, is located the Tilton cemetery.

Dr. Tuncker was occupying a seat beside the venerable driver, and as they passed the city of the dead, he said: "That is a queer place for a cemetery. I wonder why such a spot was selected?"

Barnes' explanation was short and to the point, his answer being: "Easy digging."-Boston Herald.

Pat's Prize Effort.

An American visiting Dublin told some startling stories about the height of some of the New York buildings. An Irishman who was listening stood it as long as he could, and then queried:

"Ye haven't seen our newest hotel, have ye?"

The American thought not. "Well," said the Irishman, "it's so tall that we had to put the two top stories on hinges"

"What for?" asked the American. "So we could let 'em down till the moon went by," said Pat

ORIGIN OF POSTAGE STAMPS.

Secret Sign on an Envelope the Cause of Present System.

Quite recently there has been more or less discussion as to the origin of the postage stamp.

Perhaps the most authentic story is that which comes from the post office department at Washington. It appears that about 65 years ago Rowland Hill was traveling through one of the northern districts of England and for a time was sojourning at an inn where the postman came with a letter for a young miss, who turned it over and over in her hand and after examining the envelope minutely inquired the price of the postage, which was a shilling. She sighed sadly and returned the letter to the postman, saying that it was from her brother but that she had no money. Mr. Hill was an onlooker and was touched with pity. He paid the postage and his action seemed to embarrass the girl. When the postman had gone she told Mr. Hill that some ing inclosed. In extenuation she said that she and her brother had contrived a code system of communicating, as neither of them were able to pay post charges.

Mr. Hill thought of the results of a system which made such frauds possible. Before another day he had planned a postal system upon the present basis.-Harper's Weekly.

Derivation of Words.

Arnold White remarks that "an admiral is an emir of the sea. "Admiral," or rather the older "amiral" (the "d" is an intruder), is one of many familiar words of Arabic origin. It represents "amir-al-bahr," commander of the sea. The dropping of the "bahr" has left in this case a mutilated form meaning literally only commander of the-." In other words' the Arabic definite article and the following substantive still translate together. Thus there is "algebra," the reduction; "alkali," the plant ashes: "alembic," the cup; "alcohol," for "alkohl," literally "the burned thing;" and "elixir," which stands for "aliksi

Is Prohibtion Justifiable?

EDITOR RECORD:-In the issue of your excellent paper dated November 23rd, there appeared an article under the above caption, signed by, one Milton W. Terry. This gertleman is unknown to me and doubtless to many others, of your readers, but there is a W. E. Dowell has about completed few corrections which I want to make in the above named article, not only for the benefit of the gentleman himself, but also of many others that are liable to be misled by it. In the first place the article referred to was a misrepresentation of the principle of prohiseems to think that this is to make attention to this subject. But enough men temperate and good by legal enactment. This is a mistake. The to and the corrections of the views adprinciple idea and aim of prohibition as its friends and advocates see it is protection and self-preservation from the and county shall decide at the polls voyages and deadly evils of a saloon. Now can there be anything, objection-There was a boat come down and able or unjustifiable in this? Surely loaded corn from the Island last week. not to any one who has any sense of what right and justice are. And then the gentleman seems to intimate and even contend that the principles of prohibition are not only unjust but are dishonest. I wonder if he has ever read the ten commandments, which God gave to Moses on Mt. Sinai, for the moral government of the world to to the end of time. If so, it seems Rev. W. R. Gibbs and wife spent strange to us that he did not see that Thanksgiving with relatives near this most of those commandments was prohibition in character. If I read my bible right nearly every one of them are. And so if we say that the principle of prohibition is unjust and dishonest, we are bound to say according to ville neighborhood, visited friends in same law of reasoning that the ten commandments are, for they contain many prohibitions also. For instance we read, "Thou shalt not kill" "Thou shalt not steal," "Thou shalt not commit adultry," "Thou shalt not bear false witness," and etc. Not only this, but the gentleman certainly Mrs. W. O. Wicker, who has been knows that we also have a great many prohibitory laws of the same character The party given at the residence of upon our statue books. Now would he say that these laws are unjust and dishonest? If not, then why contend that those laws which refer to the prohibition of the liquor traffic and deadly evils of the open saloons are unjust and dishonest? As to this, however, we prefere to rest our case with better and more competent judges than the gen-Ruth, returned home last Friday after tleman who seems to have esspending a week with her parents at paused the cause of the liquor men and ready to champion their interest. And then again our would-be critic seems

Mo., is visiting her parents, Mr and haven't a word to say against it. But whenever their liberty leads them to do wrong and to interefere with other peoples rights as the saloons of the country are constantly doing, then it is time to call a halt, and this is just what the temperance people of this city and county want to do now. The saloons have imposed upon the rights and priveliges of our people long enough, until most of our good citizens have become tired of it and have determined to drive them from our midst as they hope to do next Friday, December 7th. Now let all good citizens rally to their support and let there be such a glorious victory for temperance and righteousne's on that day that no liquor seller will endeavor to undertake to sell the poisonous stuff in our midst again. As for the array of the distinguished scientists and statement introduced at the conclusion of his article and whose opinions your distinguished contributor delights to quote with such a flourish of victory, I havn't a word to say except, that these distinguished scientists and statesmen were only men like the rest of us and were just as liable to be in error on this question as any body else and a great more so than many others who have given special vanced therein. I am perfectly willing that the intelligent voters of our city next Friday, December 7th.

Very respectfully, J. H. BUTLER.
